Modelling Fluid Flow János Vad,Tamás Lajos,Rudolf Schilling,2013-04-17 Modelling Fluid Flow presents invited lectures, workshop summaries and a selection of papers from a recent international conference CMFF '03 on fluid technology. The lectures follow the current evolution and the newest challenges of the computational methods and measuring techniques related to fluid flow. The workshop summaries reflect the recent trends, open questions and unsolved problems in the mutually inspiring fields of experimental and computational fluid mechanics. The papers cover a wide range of fluids engineering, including reactive flow, chemical and process engineering, environmental fluid dynamics, turbulence modelling, numerical methods, and fluid machinery.

Higher Education in Africa Damtew Teferra,Jane Knight,2008 The first of its kind, this book documents and analyzes the international dimension of higher education in Africa based on country case-studies and a consideration of relevant historical and contemporary themes. It identifies trends, developments, and challenges related to the international dimension of higher educational at the institutional, national, and regional levels. It explores the institutional the opportunities and probes the risks while it responds to the growing need for information and analysis of internationalization of higher education in Africa. On the basis of this book project, an effort is underway to establish the African Network for Internationalization of Education (ANIE). This network aims to develop research capacity and expertise to meet the professional and practical needs of individuals, institutions and organizations interested in the international dimension of higher education in Africa.

Kenya After 50 Mickie Mwanzia Koster, Michael Mwenda Kithinji, Jerono P. Rotich, 2016-04-08 This book explores the key milestones in education, gender, and policy that Kenya has achieved since independence, the challenges of this experience, and the future prospects. This edited collection of chapters also aims to illuminate the lessons learned from the experiences of the postcolonial period as well as postulate on the way forward. Through this exploration of the Kenyan experience since independence, the authors present an optimistic view that despite the many obstacles and challenges, the country still has promising prospects as a nation.

African Higher Education Damtew Teferra, Philip G. Altbach, 2003-10-02 This book is a comprehensive survey of all aspects and dimensions of higher education in Africa.

Building Upon Building Jantje Engels, Marius Grootveld, 2016 Forty-five contemporary European architects were given the task to design a fictional building expansion in line with the principles of the existing building -- a relevant question in an era when architecture increasingly seems to occur without the context being taken into account. The result is a collection of dialogues between contemporary architects and the past. A new generation of European architects is looking for rooted values rather than indiscriminate forms. Architecture as evolution, rather than revolution. How can the views that underlie the historical city be interwoven with the stories of the present? This question is answered in 45 designs and four essays.

Principals of Dynamic Schools Ellen B. Goldring, Sharon F. Rallis, 1993-07-27 This book explores the new roles required of principals of dynamic schools. The first chapter examines the following forces that shape principals' activities: teachers are becoming teacher-leaders; parents are more vocal and action-oriented advocates; student bodies are more diverse; the social and technological contexts of schools are more complex; and state and federal reform mandates are setting priorities. Chapter 2 develops the image of a dynamic school as the place where principals-in-charge work and describes the characteristics that define this type of principal. The next three chapters examine new roles for principals-in-charge: those of facilitator, balancer, and flag bearer and bridge. Respectively, these chapters: discuss the professional relationships that principals-in-charge develop to facilitate teacher leadership in dynamic schools; discuss how the principal-in-charge negotiates within the system hierarchy, and develop cooperative relationships with their superiors; and show how the principal-in-charge takes on the role of entrepreneur for the school in the community. Chapter 6 and 7 offer new approaches to assessing and preparing the principal-in-charge, pointing out that dynamic schools are evaluation-minded schools and discussing ways of enabling principals to maintain their momentum of continuous growth. The role of the principal-in-charge as a leader of change is discussed in the final chapter. Each chapter introduces a scenario that depicts the principal-in-charge of a dynamic school, presents empirical data and supporting literature, and offers chapter highlights. The appendix describes the methods used in the Classroom Alternative Process (CAP) study, the Least Restrictive Environment (LRE) study, the case study for the Coalition of Essential Schools, and the High School and Beyond (USDE, 1984) data set. (Contains 216 references.) (LMI)

Musicology and Dance Davinia Caddy, Maribeth Clark, 2022-06-23 Long treated as peripheral to music history, dance has become prominent within musicological research, as a prime and popular subject for an increasing number of books, articles, conference papers and special symposiums. Despite this growing interest, there remains no thorough-going critical examination of the ways in which musicologists might engage with dance, thinking not only about specific repertoires or genres, but about fundamental commonalities between the two, including embodiment, agency, subjectivity and consciousness. This volume begins to fill this gap. Ten chapters illustrate a range of conceptual, historical and interpretive approaches that advance the interdisciplinary study of music and dance. This methodological eclecticism is a defining feature of the volume, integrating insights from critical theory, film and cultural studies, the visual arts, phenomenology, cultural anthropology and literary criticism into the study of music and dance.

Media Culture and Performance in Kenya Mitch Odero, Esther Kamweru, 2000

Oral Literature of the Luo Simon Okumba Miruka, 2001 This is the sixth title in a series of titles focussing on the oral literary tradition of various East African ethnic groups - the Maasai, the Embu and the Mbeere amongst others - published by EAEP. Okumba Miruka, particularly known for his contribution to oral literature in Kenya, sets out to contextualise his subject by first explaining about the Luo people and culture - from migratory patterns and economic activity to the concept of divinity, death, warfare and Luo cuisine and eating culture. He then approaches the oral literature of the Luo through the genres of riddles, proverbs, poetry and narratives. For each genre, he offers a general introduction, notes on style, convention, performance and social function, and a wide range of samples, or 'primary texts' with commentaries.

Constructing Knowledge Societies, 2002-01-01 This report describes how tertiary education contributes towards developing a country's capacity to participate in an increasingly knowledge-based world economy. It also investigates policy options which have the potential to enhance economic growth and reduce poverty. It draws on ongoing World Bank research into the dynamics of knowledge-based economies to explore how countries can adapt their higher education systems to meet the combination of new and old challenges of international market forces.

Nutrition Education Isobel Contento,2010-10-22 The role of nutrition education is to address the numerous personal and environmental influences on food choices and assist individuals in practicing healthy behaviors. Nutrition Education, Second Edition provides students with a simple, straightforward model to easily design effective nutrition education. Using a six-step process, it integrates theory, research, and practice, providing advice on designing, implementing, and evaluating theory-based nutrition education.
